News and Notes from Speaker-less Meeting

The Pancake Breakfast results, Dinner/Auction update, Salvation Army bell-ringing and other “top-shelf” items occupied the agenda, with no guest speaker scheduled.

Kendra Speed said the Veterans Day Pancake Breakfast raised $5,069. That money will be used to purchase winter clothing at Burlington Coat Factory tomorrow evening, Friday, for kids in need. The clothing will be delivered to Shaw’s on Saturday morning at 8:30, and we are all invited to be there for the event.

There is no morning meeting next Thursday, December 6 so that we can participate in the Dinner/Auction beginning at 5:30 pm at Spectacular Events. Jeff Plourde and Caroline King emphasize the need for more donations of white wine and “top shelf” liquor. You can bring your donations to the event next week or deliver them to the Red Cross office where Caroline will accept them. She says she needs people at the dinner to sell leis and raffle tickets. Ken Nagle thanked Jeff for his hard work on the auction. As Jeff said, “there are so many details!”

The Birthday Philharmonic (Les and Lisa) sang to Jody McCarthy. The entire ensemble then sang birthday cheer to Lisa.

Speaking of cheer, the Salvation Army Bell Ringing sign-up list is going around. Check with musical hat wearer Greg Jamison for slots available.

Pudge Harrison experienced a French turkey over Thanksgiving during his trip to Quebec. Lucie Estabrook spent Thanksgiving on, we assume, a warm beach. Recent new member Robert Woods is in California where he is tending to his son who is diagnosed with leukemia.

Four members of the Interact Leaders Club told us of their plans and projects. A 32-foot trailer will carry them in the Festival of Lights Parade on Saturday. They plan to attend the Gala Auction, and they will volunteer at the Camp Jordan pancake breakfast.
